

REAL SIMPLE

LIFE MADE EASIER

How to not get the flu
PAGE 50

Easiest Thanksgiving Ever

Turkey legs! Simple sides!

Big-batch cocktails!

And tips for dinner
without drama

+

Is that upgrade worth it, or should you save your money?

NOVEMBER 2022

MISTAKES YOU DIDN'T KNOW YOU WERE MAKING

Hanging Art

Interior designer Rozit Arditi (@arditidesign) has the tips you need to nail it next time.

You're Hanging It Too High

Art should be at eye level, with the center about 60 inches from the floor. Hang most pieces at this height so your gaze doesn't have to travel up and down throughout a room.

You're Not Spacing It Out Right

On a gallery wall, you want each frame to be about three inches from the next one. Any more than that can make the arrangement look disjointed. Any less and it can look cluttered.

You're Not Thinking About the Frame

Don't just grab any frame that's the right size! Instead, go with something that picks up on the vibe of the art, like a black frame that illuminates the dark tones in a print.
